

Strong and Durable

Your front door says a lot about you. Which is why you should consider Fortis, our new door designed with the discerning homeowner in mind.

Fortis is a new kind of door. Combining the beautiful look of a traditional timber door, with the latest in engineering and material technology to create a beautiful, stylish entrance door that is packed with advanced features.

You can't help but notice the beautiful, solid timber look. But on closer inspection, you'll discover a "skin" bonded to a solid, high insulation core, providing superb insulation against heat loss. Unlike a timber door, Fortis will never need painting and is guaranteed not to warp, twist or flake.

When designing Fortis, security was a primary factor, and this strong, solid door will protect your home from even the most determined intruder. A powerful multi-point claw-locking system is fitted as standard on all Fortis doors.

Fortis is available in a wide range of styles and stunning hand-crafted glazing options. And if you're feeling adventurous, your new door can be ordered in an exciting range of colours and finishes to complement the style and age of your property.

You can also specify variations, such as double doors, "stable doors" and even door sidescreens to match.

Fortis Range

The beautifully styled and richly grained look of Fortis is a real eye-catcher, with the look and feel of traditional timber and the low maintenance and performance only 21st century materials can provide.
